'50 Years, a celebration!' exhibition

Art work by Christopher Marvell at The Old Fire Engine House. Entry free

Ely's version of the Royal Academy Summer Show is at The Old Fire Engine House until July 8.

Four pieces by David Remfry RA and Christopher Marvell, exhibitors at the Royal Academy, form part of the exhibition alongside 100 other artists.

David Remfry has been given the honour of hanging a room in this year's RA 250th Summer Show which is curated by Grayson Perry.

'50 Years, a celebration!' features new and retrospective works from artists who have exhibited at The Old Fire Engine House in Ely since it's opening in 1968.

The show includes painting, sculpture, ceramics, textiles, mixed media and photography from artists including Shirley Felts, Robin Boyd, Julia Ball and popular local artist Anthony Day.

With her husband Michael, Ann Jarman has curated the exhibition, which she describes as "a wonderful celebration for everyone who has supported us over the last 50 years; staff, artists and customers".
